

JUDGE PARKER REITERATES

Says President Fails to Deny That Trusts

HAVE AIDED REPUBLICANS

Denies Absolutely That Any Trust Money Has Gone Into the Treasury of the Democratic National Committee.

New York, Nov. 5.—Judge Parker, in a speech made at a reception given to him by the Kings county Democratic club in Brooklyn tonight, asserted that the issue "whether the trusts can purchase the election," has not been met by President Roosevelt in his reply to Judge Parker's speech made 12 days ago.

After stating what his position had been in that speech, Judge Parker said tonight that he had made no criticism of the President, but that he had simply called attention to a "notorious and offensive situation."

The assertion was made by Judge Parker that the contributions he charged Chairman Cortelyou had received from the trusts are not denied by the President's statement. The Democratic candidate followed this declaration with a statement directed to the President personally, to the effect that he (Parker) had issued a request that no money for campaign purposes should be received, directly or indirectly, from any trust; that he would rather be defeated than be fettered in an effort to accomplish reforms that are sorely needed. He charged the President with refusal to co-operate in the checking of the "monstrous evil."

NO REPLY BY ROOSEVELT.

Was Ready to Do So, However, if Parker Had Offered to Produce Proof.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 5.—President Roosevelt was informed late tonight that Judge Parker had made no specific answer to his statement of this morning, and received several press despatches outlining Judge Parker's speech.

Mr. Loeb, the secretary to the President, remained in his office until nearly midnight, and it was the intention to make some reply if Judge Parker offered to produce any proof to substantiate his former charges. When Mr. Loeb came from his office and was asked if the President had anything to say tonight he replied: "I don't think there will be any reply to that."

IN MASSACHUSETTS.

The Vote of Bates Is the Problem—How Much Will He Be Behind?

Boston, Nov. 7.—The campaign in Massachusetts is practically over, though both parties are to hold a few final rallies tonight to arouse the voters to the duty of going to the polls on the morrow. Despite the absence of evidence on the surface that the voters of this state have been stirred to heights of enthusiasm by the issues of the campaign, there has been a perceptible quickening of interest in the election within the past week, and the prospect is that a vote of presidential year proportions will be cast in this state Tuesday.

The only real live topic of speculation is as to how much Gov. Bates will run behind Roosevelt. If there are any votes in the labor issue raised against him, it would seem as if he must lose heavily on this score, and that is the expectation of those who have been managing the Douglas campaign. The latter, however, are not rainbow chasers, and will feel repaid if they can pull down the Governor's vote materially. They realize that their candidate is severely handicapped by coming before the people for the first time in a presidential year, and that when they have admitted that Roosevelt will carry the state by probably over 60,000, it can hardly be expected that the Governor will run far enough behind the head of the Republican ticket to bring Mr. Douglas' election within range of probability.

May Beat Bell's Figures.

White River Junction, Nov. 5.—Practically no campaign work of any kind has been carried on in Vermont in anticipation of Tuesday's national election, all the activity having been shown in September at state election. On Tuesday only presidential electors will be voted for. The Republican leaders claim a higher plurality for Roosevelt than the 31,559 accorded Bell for governor, because, they contend, many Democrats will turn to Roosevelt and Fairbanks.

To Extradite Holbrook.

Brattleboro, Nov. 5.—After several delays, requisition papers have been issued by Gov. Bell asking Gov. Bates of Massachusetts for the return to Vermont of Harold Holbrook, now being detained in Boston as a fugitive from justice. Holbrook is wanted for complicity in the Newburg bank robbery. Sheriff Wilkins of Putney will go to Boston tomorrow for Holbrook, whose hearing is set for Monday, it having been continued from yesterday at the request of Vermont officers.

RICKERT & WELLS, OUR LOCAL DRUGGISTS,

Say That the Wonderful Popularity of Vinol is Due to Intrinsic Merit.

"The intrinsic merit of this new cod liver oil preparation, Vinol," said Mr. Wells, of the firm of Rickert & Wells, "is beginning to be realized by the people of Barre. Of course in my position as a druggist I have seen innumerable medicines and proprietary articles introduced, but never in my long experience have I ever known or heard of a medicine that would produce more beneficial results than Vinol."

"I attribute this to the fact that Vinol contains in a concentrated form all the medicinal elements contained in cod liver oil, actually taken from fresh cods' livers, but without a drop of oil or grease to nauseate and upset the stomach, and it contains no sickening drugs."

"A prominent physician writes: 'Vinol is the most valuable preparation of cod liver oil known to medicine. It is of untold value to create strength and build up the general system for old people, weak women and children, and it has no equal for hard colds, bronchial and all lung affections.'"

"In cases where cod liver oil, emulsions and other tonics fail, Vinol will heal, strengthen and cure."

"There are hundreds of people right here in Barre who can testify that there is nothing equal to Vinol to make rich, red blood, to increase the appetite, cure stomach troubles, give strength and renewed vitality to the aged, build up the run-down, tired and debilitated, make the weak strong, cure chronic coughs, colds and build up the convalescent."

"We freely offer to return your money in every case where Vinol fails. Try it on this guarantee." Rickert & Wells, Druggists.

CATHOLIC VOTE IN ITALY'S ELECTIONS

Some Clerical Candidates Are Presented—An Event Without Precedent.

Rome, Nov. 5.—One of the most interesting points in connection with the Italian general elections is the question whether the Vatican will prohibit Catholics voting or whether Catholics, even without the official consent of the Holy See, interpreting silence as acquiescence, will participate in the elections.

Some disposition in this direction is shown by the presentation of several clerical candidates, which is an event without precedent since the temporal power of the Pope came to an end.

The president of the association of Catholic clubs, however, publishes in the Osservatore Romano tonight a letter saying:—"In order that Catholics may maintain the unity of action which is their duty and their boast, I recall that up to the present time there has been no change in pontifical positions regarding the elections. Therefore the attitude of Catholics must be the same as in the past."

The writer of the foregoing letter has no official authority to interpret the intention of the Pope.

HERMIT'S BODY FOUND.

David Stearns Dead in Woods of Chittenden.

Burlington, Nov. 5.—The body of David Stearns, aged 80, who for the past 40 years has lived the life of a hermit in the town of Chittenden, was found in the woods near his house last night.

The last time that Stearns was seen alive was on Oct. 29, when he called at the home of his grand nephew, Orrick Backus, to get a can of kerosene oil. He was at that time in his usual health. The body was found lying in the woods about 50 rods from the house and about the same distance from the road. Life had apparently been extinct for nearly a week. Death resulted from natural causes, probably heart failure.

Besides his grandnephew, Stearns leaves no other relatives in Vermont, and leaves no property. He was a hermit because a quiet life, free from labor and worry suited him. He was eccentric but probably sane.

NINE CARLOADS OF FAMEUSE.

O. S. Bixford of Highgate Ships 8,000 Bushels—1,000 Bushels Frozen.

East Highgate, Nov. 5.—O. S. Bixford has given employment to about thirty-five people and ten horses the past six weeks gathering, sorting, packing and hauling apples. Mr. Bixford has an orchard on Franklin road which contains two thousand Fameuse apple trees. The hard frost of Sunday night destroyed about one thousand bushels which were not yet gathered. Eight thousand bushels, nine carloads, have been shipped to Buffalo, N. Y., where Mr. Bixford has found a ready market for them for some years past. The small sized and bruised apples will be made into 50 barrels of cider which will be converted into vinegar.

ROBBERS SCARED OFF.

An Attempt to Burglarize Bank at Champlain, N. Y., Fails.

Rouses Point, N. Y., Nov. 5.—The First National Bank of Champlain was broken into this morning between 3 and 4 o'clock and badly wrecked, although the thieves did not succeed in getting in to the vault. The first charge did not blow open the steel doors and the men were frightened away before they could use a second. A young man named Cheaman living here, returning from a dance, had just taken a young woman to her home in Champlain and was on his way home, when about 3:30 this morning he encountered a gang of men in front of the bank, which he thought numbered about a dozen. An attempt was made to hold him up, but he whipped up his horse, and escaped.

DARTMOUTH O HARVARD O

Saturday's Games Ended in a Tie.

TEAMS POOR ON DEFENSIVE

But the Crimson Was Out-Rushed and Out-Punted by the Husky Hanoverians, Who Played Straight Football All Way Through.

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 6.—Dartmouth failed to make good her boast that she would score on Harvard while the latter was not strong enough to cross her opponents' goal line, so a tie resulted, which was an unsatisfactory ending of the game played in the Stadium yesterday afternoon before some 23,000 spectators. It was a remarkably clean game of football, entirely free from any objectionable features. There was very little kicking in the game and for the most part it was a steady grind of short gain rushes, in which department both teams were able to make consistent gains in their own territory, but when it came to a critical moment did not have strength to press the attack for a score when in opponents' ground. Dartmouth won the toss and on receiving the kick-off began a rushing game that swept all before it and it looked as if the Hanoverians would surely score.

They began the rushing on their own 25-yard line and never lost possession of the ball until they reached Harvard's 34-yard line, where the crimson line stiffened up and Dartmouth was forced to give up the ball on downs. On this charge Dartmouth rushed the ball 61 yards. The moment Harvard was in possession she, in turn, began to rip up holes in Dartmouth's line and rushed the ball for 65 yards to Dartmouth's 10-yard line, where the leather was lost on downs. This was the nearest either team came to scoring in the first half, or in the entire game, for that matter. During the remainder of the first half the play was in the middle of the field with no great advantage either way. The most sensational play in the game happened in the first half when Vaughn broke through the Harvard line on a 39-yard run. He had two interferers with him and no one in front of him but little Starr, the Harvard freshman quarterback. It did not seem possible that Starr could get to the man with the ball, but he made one of the greatest tackles ever seen on a college gridiron. When he saw his opponents coming through he quickly moved up to meet the play and brushing aside the mighty Gilman, who weighs 235 pounds, the agile crimson quarterback made a diving tackle and nailed Vaughan on Harvard's 49-yard line.

This grand tackle undoubtedly saved Harvard from being scored upon and a sigh of relief went up from the Harvard stand when Starr brought his man down. At the very end of the first half Dartmouth tried a goal from the field, just after the whistle blew. Many people thought a goal had been kicked, but as a matter of fact the ball went out by several yards, and even if the ball had gone true, the goal would not have counted. In the second half it was a standoff pure and simple and neither side had any kind of a chance to score.

Wesleyan 23, Vermont 0.

Middletown, Ct., Nov. 5.—Wesleyan easily won from the University of Vermont this afternoon by a score of 23 to 0. The two eleven were evenly matched, but the home team showed better knowledge of the technique of the game. Wesleyan was quick in starting its plays, and the interference was good. The Vermont team bungled the signals and was poor at tackling. Twice Vermont advanced the ball to Wesleyan's five-yard line but could not push it over.

For Wesleyan, Eyster made a spectacular run of 85 yards. Dearborn was used to good advantage in advancing the ball.

TO VERIFY MILL MEN'S CLAIMS

Agreement Reached at Fall River Conference to Appoint Committee Representing Both Sides in the Big Strike.

Fall River, Nov. 5.—After a three hours' session of the executive committee of the Manufacturers' Association and the five secretaries of the textile unions of this city, this forenoon the following official statement was given out:

"We have agreed that a competent committee shall be selected to verify the statements of the manufacturers of their inability to pay the old rate of wages. This committee is to consist of five disinterested persons, two to be selected by the textile council, two to be selected and the fifth to be selected by the four members of the committee. This agreement is to be submitted to the manufacturers and textile council by the respective committees with a recommendation that it be adopted."

BELLOWS FALLS CELEBRATES.

Toll Bridge Made Free—A Parade and General Jollification.

Bellows Falls, Nov. 5.—Bellows Falls and North Walpole celebrated this afternoon the freeing of the toll bridge between the two towns. A parade, speeches by P. E. Griffin, C. J. O'Neil, T. E. O'Brien and others comprised the programme and tonight both towns had a general jollification.

The bridge uniting the towns after 115 years of bondage was made free on Monday. The town of Rockingham paid to James H. Williams, treasurer of the Bellows Falls Canal company, $6,666.67, and the town of Walpole paid $12,333.33.

The first toll bridge was built under a special act of the legislature in 1785 by Col. Enoch Hale. It was uncovered and replaced by the present bridge in 1840. The owners of the bridge and the rights appurtenant thereto have been Col. Enoch Hale, 1875 to about 1800; Randolph Geyer, who lived in the mansion near the New Hampshire end of the bridge, later known as the Tucker mansion, 1800 to 1820; Nathaniel Tucker, 1820 to 1825; Edward H. Green, husband of the famous Hetty Green, 1825 to 1880; William A. Russell 1880 to 1902; Bellows Falls Canal company, 1902 until it was made a free bridge, Oct. 31, 1901.

A free bridge, costing some $60,000, is now being constructed about a half mile north of the old toll bridge and it is expected that by the first of December adequate means of free communication will be had between the two towns.

TAYLOR'S NEW CHARGE.

Says Now That Brandon Has Scarcity of Christians.

Brandon, Nov. 5.—There are less than a dozen Christians in Brandon, according to a statement made by Rev. B. S. Taylor of Moores, N. Y., who with Rev. Mr. Johnson of Johnson, has been holding campmeetings at this place.

Two years ago Taylor delivered a lecture here, when he declared that Brandon was only 16 miles from hell.

REUNION OF AGED PUPILS

Students Under Indiana Teach- 50 Years Ago Celebrate.

OLD CUSTOMS FOLLOWED

"Bad Boys" in Contest to Ascertain Which One Was Whipped Most By Their School Master.

A notable affair which vividly recalled the school days of early Indiana

took place recently in the Beech Grove church in Johnson county in honor of Professor Benjamin F. Kennedy, the last county examiner under the old and the first county superintendent under the new law, says a special dispatch from Indianapolis to the Chicago Record-Herald. Professor Kennedy now is in his eighty-fourth year, and the occasion was a reunion of the men and women, together with their children and their children's children, who had been his pupils in the old days. Men and women were in the assemblage who were gray with age, many of them having passed the three score years and ten mark.

The projectors of the reunion determined that it should be a reminder of the old days in every particular, and everything modern was tabooed. In one corner of the church an old loom, a relic of fifty years ago, was set up, and an aged grandmother showed how she used to weave jeans and lincey upon it. Beside it was a spinning wheel, and another grandmother made it whirl and hum for the edification of the young as she walked slowly backward and forward, running the yarn over the spindle to the music of the rapidly revolving wheel. A blanket was hung in another corner of the church, and an aged woman told how she had sheared the sheep, carded the wool, spun it into yarn and then woven it into a blanket more than fifty years ago.

The menu was abundant, but the dishes were the same as those served fifty years ago. Beef and mutton boiled before an open fireplace in a pot suspended from a crane, roast pig cooked in an oven with live coals underneath and on the lid and chicken fried before an open fire constituted the meats, and there was enough for two or three reunions. Corn pone and light bread similarly baked, succotash, Irish and sweet potatoes, apple and pear butter, old fashioned ginger bread, cookies and rye coffee sweetened with maple sugar, pumpkin and apple pie and maple molasses made up the meal.

The meal was preceded by a reception, in which every one went about renewing acquaintances. After dinner Ara Clark, one of the earliest pupils of Professor Kennedy, was called upon to preside, and the meeting was formally opened. Speeches were made by a number of the old settlers, and the pranks that they played on the teacher, the hardships that they underwent in pioneer life and their "sparking" of the girls were all gone over. Then came the contest of the day. A prize was offered for the man who had received the greatest number of whippings from Professor Kennedy.

and Ara Clark, the president; Dr. Ira Willan, Senator J. J. Moore, P. S. Hamilton and J. R. Shank entered the lists. Each told of the whippings he had received and the causes leading up to them, the kind of rod that Professor Kennedy had wielded and just how badly it had hurt. When all had told their stories it was voted that Mr. Kennedy should decide and that the decision should be based both on quantity and quality.

The aged professor viewed the characteristics of each of the contestants as he remembers them after the lapse of more than fifty years and then decided in favor of Ara Clark. The decision was received with applause.

Before the day closed a permanent organization of the pupils of Professor Kennedy was effected, and it is proposed to hold annual reunions as long as he shall live. Money was also raised to have a life size portrait of the venerable teacher painted, and this will be hung in the county superintendent's office in Franklin.

THE WHISKEY WE DRINK.

As Well Call It "Horse Liment" As "Whiskey" Says Chemist Wiley.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 5.—Dr. Wiley, the head chemist of the department of agriculture, is determined to secure good whiskey for the people of the United States if he can possibly do so. He has received from bonded warehouses in various parts of the country 100 bottles of whiskey guaranteed to be pure. This is to be used as the standard by which to judge various brands of made-up whiskey.

Dr. Wiley says that a large part of the whiskey now sold as pure rye and bourbon might as well be labelled horse limiment. Congress will be asked this winter to pass a law that all whiskey shall be labelled, so as to indicate just what it is in.

It has been discovered by experts that rectifiers are, in a majority of cases, using the following to make "compound" whiskey:

- 1—Pure alcohol, neutral spirits, cologne spirits and velvet spirits.
- 2—Caramel and various kinds of burned wood, aniline coloring matter and essential oils.
- 3—Certain ethers manufactured by chemists.
- 4—Artificial aging and beading oils and chemical flavoring, from which the "rye," "bourbon" and "Scotch" tastes are imparted to liquors.
- 5—Prunes juice, cheap sherry or madeira.

Dr. Wiley and his assistants do not assert that the compound whiskey is any more injurious than straight whiskey, but Dr. Wiley thinks it should be labelled just what it is.

MILE IN 2:01.

Dan Patch Does Well at St. Louis.

St. Louis, Nov. 5.—Dan Patch failed at Delmar track today to equal his world's record of 1:56, made at Memphis two weeks ago, but succeeded in making the mile in 2:01 flat, thereby breaking the state record of 2:02½, which was made by his sire, Joe Patchen, in his great race with John R. Gentry on the old St. Louis fair grounds track in 1898.

Considering the heavy track, Dan Patch's performance is regarded as good as 1:56 on the Memphis track. Fully 4000 persons witnessed the performance.

STRUCK BY SHOTTER.

William Pearl Killed at Windsor, Vt.

Claremont, N. H., Nov. 4.—William Pearl was killed last evening, shortly after 6 o'clock, by being struck by a shifting engine, near the bridge at Windsor, Vt. Mr. Pearl was about 30 years of age, and was a blacksmith, being in the employ of L. W. Small of Windsor. He was a former resident of this town, having worked in several shops here, and was also a member of the local lodge of Forsters. He was artificer of Company D, New Hampshire Volunteers, and had a very large circle of friends.
